Bodily Intrusiveness Scale (BIS) 13-14

Jennifer Cassarly, Nikki Carthy & Anna van Wersch

2017

School of Social Sciences and Law, University of Teesside, Middlesbrough, UK.

The Bodily Intrusiveness Scale is a 57-item self-report inventory which assesses early adolescent beliefs associated with sexual consent negotiation. Individuals are asked to respond how much they agree with statements about consent using a 7-pt Likert scale (1=Agree, 7=Disagree). The items include statements about the legality of sexual consent negotiation, the influence of relationship commitment on consent, general attitudes towards consent, and the importance of establishing consent before different types of sexual activity (e.g. kissing vs under the clothes touching).

	2	3		5	6
Strongly Agree (SA)	Agree	Somewhat Agree	Neither Agree nor Disagree	Somewhat Disagree	Disagree	Strongly Disagree (SD)

Directions: Read the sentences below, and use the Agree-Disagree choices to tell us your thoughts about the sentences. Circle the numbers that match your answer. Only circle one number for each sentence.
