

RAS: Year 11 Autumn Learning Journey 2: Volunteering, ethical debates & Israel-Palestine

What are we learning about?

We are learning about how to organise and conduct a small scale volunteering project, assessing the impact. We will then consider some ethical debates during mock exams, before concluding this term with a study of the Israel-Palestine conflict.

Why are we learning about it?

An awareness of our role in the community is important, and a small scale project can show the benefits of volunteering. It is important to know about ethical and religious conflicts which have a major impact on international relations.

What new KNOWLEDGE will I gain?

- What volunteering is
- How to design and assess the impact of a volunteering project
- Ethical debate topics
- Israel Palestine conflict – causes
- Is Israel and Palestine a religious issue?

How does this build on the SKILLS I already have?

The volunteering project will build your ability to work with others. You have worked on your ability to express your opinions across many subjects. These ethical debates will build on this.

What new SKILLS will I develop?

We will focus during the volunteering project on setting and reviewing goals, like project management.

The debates and the Israel-Palestine learning will allow you to express your opinions on controversial and current events, whilst demonstrating tolerance for other views.

How does this build on the KNOWLEDGE I already have?

This builds on your awareness of ethical debates and the role of religion in the modern world from Key Stage Three. It involves your application of prior learning to understand differences and similarities between religious and ethnic groups.
